KOLLAB YOUTH MASTERCLASS · GAMING CAREERS · WITH GORDON BELLAMY · NOV 5, 2026

There's a seat in games for you.

Every game you love was made by a team. Here's who's on it. Circle the ones that sound like you.

The jobs behind every game

Design
Rules, levels, how it feels to play.

You'd love it if you always want to "fix" games.

Art
Characters, worlds, animation, UI.

You draw, build, or notice how things look.

Audio
Music, sound effects, voice.

You make beats or hear everything.

Engineering
Code, tools, making it run.

You like puzzles and taking things apart.

Writing
Story, dialogue, worlds.

You make up characters and lore.

Production
Keeps the team on track and on time.

Friends call you the organizer.

QA / Testing
Breaks the game on purpose so players don't.

You find every glitch.

Community
Players, streams, Discord, events.

You're the one who brings people together.

Business
Marketing, sales, partnerships.

You can sell anything, or love the numbers.

My one-sentence game:

In my game, you are a _____ who _____ so that _____.

The first job my game needs: _____

YOUR FIRST STEPS

Start this week. Start small.

You don't need a gaming PC. You need to finish one small thing.

1. Make something tiny. One level, one sound, one character, one choice.
2. Share it with one person. Ask: "What did you feel?" Then make it better.
3. Join a game jam. Teams make a game in a weekend. Free, online, beginners welcome.
4. Talk to someone who does the job you circled. Ask one question (see below).
5. Save everything you make. That's the start of your portfolio.

Free tools

Scratch	Make games with blocks, in your browser. scratch.mit.edu
Twine	Write a story game with choices, in your browser. twinery.org
Roblox Studio	Build and publish worlds people can play. Free app.
Godot	A free, real game engine used by pros. godotengine.org
itch.io	Post your game, play indie games, find game jams. itch.io/jams

Questions to ask anyone who works in games

- What does a normal day look like for you?
- What did you make before your first job?
- What would you tell yourself at my age?
- Who should I talk to next?

My one thing this week: _____

Tell Kollab what you made. They'll make sure Gordon hears about it.

Made for Kollab Youth students. Tools listed are free to start; ask a parent or guardian before making any account if you're under 13.